Pitch

Want to have fun with a group activity, but also want to keep chilling lazily together?

Stop and smell the rotheth with this creative twist on Cranium that can be played anywhere...

it's all your favorites rolled into one (at least three players recommended)!

Rules

There are no points in this casual game, nor can it be won; for each turn, randomly generate two numbers between one and sixteen and pick your preferred prompt from the game list (if the same number is generated twice, then you must attempt the corresponding prompt).

A random number generator and a random word generator will come in handy!

Clarifications

For some prompts, the player whose turn it is tries to make the other players guess a word; for other prompts, the turn player is the one guesser, while everyone else creates the entries.

Rotheth was inspired by the fact that Cranium, while awesome, has too few prompts, so we decided to come up with the questions ourselves each time as half the fun, which has the added benefit of allowing everyone to participate in every turn!
